April is National Child Abuse Prevention Month. One of the main reasons that children do not report the inappropriate content they find online is fear of punishment from parents. If you let them know that it is not their fault if they come across an inappropriate site, they will be more willing to come to you when it happens. If your children ever show you a site that contains illegal behavior, such as pornographic images of children, contact your Internet service provider and the CyberTipline at www.cybertipline.com. For more information on the Office of Child Protection Services in the Archdiocese of Washington, visit www.adw.org and click on "Protecting Our Children." The website also provides resources for National Child Abuse Prevention Month, including Keeping Kids Safe: A Parent's Guide.

The fair provides an excellent opportunity to meet administrators and admissions directors from most of the 18 Catholic high schools in the District of Columbia, Prince George's County, Montgomery County and Southern Maryland. Pick up informational materials and learn about the admissions process and tuition assistance. For high school profiles and links, visit www.adw.org/education/edu.asp?region=5.
